Deal overview	The proposed transaction concerns an AGRI3 portfolio guarantee of approximately USD 15 million. The programme is intended to help our Partner Financial Institution to offer higher lending amounts to eligible borrowers whose financing needs are too large for microfinance institutions and are insufficiently served by commercial banks.
Description of the activities	The program will primarily support seasonal working-capital loans to cooperatives, producer organisations, aggregators, agro-processors and other agricultural businesses. Financing will support the purchase, aggregation, processing and marketing of coffee, cocoa, honey, tree nuts, vanilla, grains, oilseeds, dried mango, avocado oil and other staple crops sourced from small-scale producers.
Expected impact	▪ Expanded access to finance for agricultural enterprises underserved by commercial lenders. ▪ Increased crop purchases from smallholder farmers and stronger access to established domestic and export markets. ▪ Increased agricultural area under sustainable management and wider adoption of climate-smart and regenerative practices. ▪ Complementary advisory support for financial management, climate resilience, regenerative agriculture and sustainability compliance.
E&S risks and mitigants	Key potential risks include labour and child-labour risks in certain countries and commodities; deforestation and land-use change; resource efficiency, wastewater and agrochemical management where processing is undertaken; land rights, biodiversity and governance risks in certain countries.
